

Regional Economic Accounts

Year 2010-2012

In 2012, GDP per capita amounted to 31,094 euros in the North-west, 30,630 euros in the North-east and 27,941 euros in the Centre. In the South of Italy the same value was 42% lower than in the Centre-north and it amounted to 17,416 euros.

In the ranking of GDP per capita, the Province of Bolzano/Bozen showed the maximum value, with a GDP per capita of over 37,000 euro, while Campania was the last one with about 16,400 euros.

In 2012, in the presence of a decrease of 2.5% of GDP in volume at the national level, all areas of the country showed a strong negative result. The fall was particularly deep in the South (-2.9%) and less in the North-west (-2.3%). In the North-east and in the Centre the reduction was similar to the national level (-2.5%).

Sicilia (-3.8%), Basilicata (-3.6%) and Valle d'Aosta (-3.5%) suffered a major reduction of the GDP.

In contrast, the fall in economic activities was less intensive in the Province of Bolzano/Bozen (-0.7%), in Toscana (-1.9%) and Campania (-2%).

In all geographical areas the contraction in GDP was associated to a marked decrease in the volume of households consumption. The decline was greater in the South (-4.7%) compared to -3.7% in the North-east and 3.9% in the Centre.

In the last three years GDP showed different trends at the regional level. In the North-west and the North-east GDP increased by 1.8 and 0.9% respectively, while the Centre showed a minor decrease (-1.2%) and the South suffered the greatest decrease (-3.8%).

Between 2009 and 2012 employment decreased, in terms of full time equivalent, by 1, 5% in the Centre-North and more than twice (3.4%) in the South.
