

Construction costs index for residential building

January 2013

The construction costs index for residential building approximates the monthly evolution of costs of the residential construction sector. With effect from January 2013 the indices will be calculated with reference to the base year 2010 using the Ateco 2007 classification (Italian edition of Nace Rev. 2).

In January 2013 the index increased by 0.3% compared with the previous month.

The index rose by 1% compared with January 2012.
