

Descriptive note

Subject of the survey and source of data

Since 1977, ISTAT has reported on administrative proceedings regarding the activities of the regional administrative Courts, the Council of State and the Sicilian regional administrative Council. The procedures relating to the justice activities of the Court of Auditors is reported by the Court's own statistics office and transmitted to ISTAT.

The administrative justice procedure regards administrative claims, i.e. claims presented to an administrative judicial Authority by a claimant with a direct and actual interest in obtaining the cancellation, revocation or reform of an administrative provision.

The phenomena observed include claims for lack of jurisdiction, excess of power or legal violation of acts or provisions issued by central or decentralised State or public Bodies.

Conventional symbols

The following conventional symbols are used in the statistical tables:

- line (-): when the phenomenon does not exist or if the phenomenon exists and was surveyed, but no cases were recorded;
- four points (...): when the phenomenon exists, but the figures are unknown for whatever reason;
- two points (..): for absolute or relative numbers lower than the minimum significant number considered.

Percentages

Percentages are automatically rounded to the first or second decimal figure. The total calculation of the percentages may not therefore be equal to 100.
